The Ohio River.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that proposals will be received by the subscribers, for improving the navigation of the Ohio River from the city of Pittsburgh to the line of the state of Pennsylvania, a distance of about 40 miles, from this time until the first of December next.

The contemplated improvement will consist in removing the large stones from the bed of the river, and in cutting an artificial channel through the shoals and ripples of a certain depth and width. The work necessary to effect this object would be of a very simple kind. The stones lying in the channel are not attached to the bed of the river—none of them are so large as to require to be blown, and the artificial channel would have to be opened through sand and gravel.

The subscribers reside in Pittsburgh, and would be happy to afford every information upon the subject to any enterprizing persons disposed to undertake the work.

Town of
PALERMO.

THE scite of this Town is on the bank of the Ohio river in Union county, state of Kentucky, immediately opposite the mouth of the Saline river, in the state of Illinois.

The Sale of Lots will take place on the 20th day of October next, under the directions of the Commissioners appointed by the Court of Union county, and will continue from day to day, till Three Hundred are disposed of

will be one fourth down, one fourth in nine, one fourth in eighteen, and one fourth in twenty four months, with a deed of trust to secure the payment.

There is no situation on the Ohio between its source and mouth (with the exception of Louisville) which combines more or greater advantages than

PALERMO

—Union is allowed to be the most fertile county south of Green river, and the whole section of country between the Green and Cumberland rivers is well known to be peculiarly adapted to the culture of Tobacco than any other part of Kentucky. The population is increasing most rapidly, and by many of the most respectable and genteel families from Virginia, North Carolina and she old settled parts of Kentucky. This town is about 1200 miles above New-Orleans and lies in the direct course to Illinois, Missouri, Arkansaw, Kaskaskia and Red River countries, and shortens the distance at least thirty miles instead of going by Shawanee-town. In its immediate neighbourhood, are very large bodies of the richest land in the state—it is about 6 miles by water from the United States' Salt Works, and must become the deposit for the salt wanted in the adjacent counties of Kentucky, and a considerable portion of Tennesee.

PALERMO

is destined to become one of the greatest places on the whole river for steam works, having an inexhaustible coal mine within half a mile of the river, and the coal not a foot below the surface, and also within three or four miles of the town one of the richest ore banks in the western country.

PALERMO

possesses a great advantage over every other situation on the river above it, that steam-boats and others can at almost all seasons of the year come from and return to New-Orleans, there being never less than 12 feet water at its banks; the want of which advantage was severely felt from Pittsburgh as low as Shawaneetown last fall, at the former of which places an immense amount of goods was detained on account of the lowness of the water from September to December. An importing house at this place, getting goods from Baltimore, New-York or from Europe direct by way of New-Orleans, and having one or two branch steam-boats, drawing not more than from two to two and an half feet water, would make incalculable profits by supplying the country as high as Louisville and up the different tributary streams of the Ohio with merchandize. This town is laid off on a beautiful plain or level extending from the river to the foot of the Curlew Hills, a distance of nearly a mile, and commands a fine view of the Ohio and Saline rivers.

Encouragement to Mechanics to settle in

PALERMO;

Fifty Lots

Will be given gratis in fee simple, (including those given to the acting Commissioners) also the use of pit coal for five years, for fuel, the use of an acre lot for five years for a garden, timber for the interior of a two story house building stone from the Curlew hills, on condition that the grantee build and completely finish in two years, a two story house aforesaid of brick or stone; the same privileges will be extented to purchasers at the first sale, but to no others. The situation is peculiarly well calculated for an industrious and prudent mechanic to realize a fortune in a short time; provisions are remarkably low, wages uncommonly high, and the savings of a few months can at any time be invested in the public lands by crossing over to Illinois, Indiana or Missouri, which will increase annually for years to come from 25 to 30 per cent.

PALERMO

is very healthy, well watered by a number of the purest springs, and at a distance of about eighteen miles are some of the most efficacious White Sulphur and Salt Sulphur Springs in the Western country, which are much resorted to. At the same time will be leased for a term of years, from

15 to 20 FARMS

Of 75 ACRES each, of as rich lands as the state affords, adjoining the town; and every stick of wood, every fowl, pig, shoat, lamb, mutton, vegetable, pound of butter or pint of milk that the farmer can spare will find a certain and ready market from the steam boats.

The following trades would meet with most encouragement, viz. Brick-makers, Brick-layers, Carpenters, Black-smiths, Wheelwrights, Coopers, Cabiner makers, Tanners & Curriers, Shoemakers, Hatters and Tailors. None however need apply except such as are masters of their trades and sober and industrious. Any letters directed to the subscriber at Frankfort, Ken. (post paid) will be duly attended to.

Pittsburgh, June 29, 1819.

Pittsburgh Gazette

FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 12, 1819.

The following notice of a promised entertainment at the Theatre, was suggested by an advertisement handed in for the Gazette of to-day. Owing to some unforeseen difficulty the performance has been postponed. We have not withdrawn the article from the hands of the compositor, because, on looking it over it appears to be quite in unison with that spirit of cheerful philosophy which we would inculcate amidst our grave cares and engagements. It is delightful to turn aside occasionally, from the burning highway along which we are doomed to travel, and snatch a refreshing moment of shade and fragrance.

SOCIETY.—The Drama.—By a notice in one of our columns, it appears that the amateur Thespians design to perform for one night, and to devote the proceeds to the use of the Adelphi school. The town has so long worn a gloomy aspect, that we are glad to hear of any thing that is calculated to rouse and shake us up a little from this lethargy. There is, to be sure, a general and certainly a very just complaint of hard times, but we do not know that this should render us moping and melancholy, when we merely share the fate of the rest of the world, and no criminality can be laid to our charge. The causes of the present difficulties are known to every body, and a salutary spirit of retrenchment has been so pointed as to reach, and we trust, to remedy the evil. While this is going on, however, so far from becoming morose and gloomy, we rather seem called upon to cultivate all the resources of innocent pleasure; to endeavour to be more than ever social and good humoured and happy amongst ourselves. At all events no one can deny that it is quite as well for the harrassed citizen thus to obtain a as to wear away mind and body in jaundiced contemplation, or to drown in reckless debauchery the recollection of his embarrassments. In times like the present, the female character rises into a higher dignity, and may exhibit its finest characteristics. It is for woman to relieve the poignancy of disappointment; cheer dejection, and to turn aside despair; to emulate, in short, the heroic Queen Eleanor, who extracted with her lips, as history informs us, the poison of the shaft that had struck her husband.—Surely, she forgets the high purposes for which she was formed by the Almighty, when she catches the gloom of the brow instead of dissipating it, and with the sullenness of an affected humility renounces all attempts to social gaiety, because she may not be able to make the same gaudy display as in times of extravagant prosperity.

The train of reflection into which we have fallen, has reminded us of the early state of our society, as represented to us when Pittsburgh was in its infancy, and when the great men who have many of them since played conspicuous parts on the stage of active life, were struggling with the difficulties and dangers of a new settlement. These men, like most others of vigorous active minds, were fond of society, and it was a maxim of their gay frontier philosophy to seize all the enjoyments within reach, and neglect nothing that was calculated to enliven the spot on which their happiness and hopes were centered. With sprightly good humour; with no unquiet feelings of rivalry in ostentation, the joyous throng would mingle in the dance; or enjoy the frank communication and the lively repartee.

"How happy the days of Thalaba went by,"

Mirth threw gay wreaths of flowers breathing all life and fragrance over the animated scene, and in the language of old Spenser,

"All that pleasing is to eye and ear
"Was there consorted in one harmony,
"Birds, voices, instruments, winds, waters all agree."

It was not to be expected that our society would continue to wear the aspect of a delightful family party. Yet the recollection of these scenes may serve to shew that luxury and pomp are quite unnecessary to the most refined and delightful social intercourse. Surely we may meet together and enjoy ourselves without the parade of poor Mrs. Primrose, who insisted, as the Vicar tells us, on accommodating all the 'Squire's servants, "though the family was pinched for a week afterwards."

We have almost been led astray from the object of our paragraph, which was to notice the promised entertainment at the theatre. In the absence of a regular company, a call seems to be made upon the resources of our amateurs, to furnish us occasionally with this delightful and rational amusement. At Rome, each citizen in a season of scarcity, was obliged to bring his stock into the common fund; and on the same principle, assuredly, we have now a right to require from every individual, the exertion of any talent which he may possess, to please or to instruct. We are pleased with whatever is calculated to relieve and elevate the mind from that tendency to debasement which results from a too anxious devotion to the pursuit of gain. It is delightful to see innocence and honour enjoying, even for a time, the self-satisfaction and freedom from care of which they are so often deprived by the whimsical arrangements of the world's affairs. Without some such pause—some sabbath of the intellect, in which we are led back to pure and high-minded reflection—people are very apt to forget that they were created for any other purpose than to make money, or that there is any other criterion of worth or happiness than a successful prosecution of worldly pursuits. Nothing seems better calculated to restore a happy elasticity of mind than the chaste and spirited exhibition of the drama, which calls into lively exercise our best feelings and affections, as we sympathise in the distresses or success of virtue and innocence, or glow with honest exultation at the punishment of vice and crime.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 2

The ignorance of our eastern brethren of the circumstances and sentiments of the western people, and their ill judged harshness and severity of expression towards us, have never been so completely developed, as in their ungenerous and insulting comments upon the late transactions at Chilicothe. Ohio, for her open, fair and honourable assertion of her state rights, against the intrusions of a mammoth aristocracy, has been denounced by many of the public journals of the Atlantic cities, as having committed a most disgraceful outrage, and is pronounced by some of them, as in a state of actual rebellion. They appear to talk as if the bank held the sword and the purse strings of the nation, and it was high treason to incur its displeasure. In the Western country we have learned our constitutional rights differently; we know that the bank neither commands the sword nor the purse of the nation. If it has any constitutional rights, they are neither greater nor less than the rights of any other bank or of private individuals—and for any injury sustained by it, or outrage if you please, it is entitled to the same mode of redress and no other. It is idle and ridiculous to talk of submitting the paper in this case to the President. Is he the tutelary deity of the institution? or is this intimation held up as a bug-bear to frighten the authorities in this state? or is it intended by the bank and its venal presses to incense the nation against us by transforming a temperate and peaceable execution of a constitutional law, into a treasonable outrage. In Ohio we have at least learnt the alphabet of our constitutional rights; we know that they are not held at the pleasure of a bank, merely because it has been chartered by congress, and nick named a national bank. The constitution and laws of the United States define Treason to be the levying of war against the government, or aiding and comforting its enemies in time of war; and the statue book of Ohio provides for the punisment of treason; but did it ever enter into the head of the weakest man in the community, that the grossest outrage upon one of the state banks, could be construed into treason against the state—and what immunities has the Bank of the United States over the state banks, or what protection is it entitled to more than them, or than the humblest individual in society? Is the national arm to be stretched forth and the blood of the nation to flow to avenge its wrongs? The idea is childish; and those editors who have raised the hue and cry against this state, should blush for their weakness, or their blind devotion to an institution which their posterity will have reason to bewail, in its corrupting influence upon the government and people.

SURVEY OF THE BOUNDARY LINE IN LAKE ERIE.

BUFFALO, Oct. 5.

A distressing time the parties appear to have had, who have been employed, for the last two months, in the survey of the Islands of Lake Erie. Of thirty three persons, consisting of commissioners, secretaries, surveyors, chain bearers and boat and axe men, every individual has suffered a serious time of illness, and that too in a place where no medical aid could be procured. We learn, however, that the survey of the Islands to the mouth of the Detroit river has been compleated, notwithstanding these accumulated difficulties; though, from the continuance of the sickness, and in consequence of the death of Colonel Ogilvy, the surviving commissioner, Gen. Porter has been under the necessity of suspending the further prosecution of the work for the present season.

Mr. Thompson, the astronomical surveyor of the British Commissioners, has returned with all his party, who are now on their way to Montreal. Mr. T. himself, one of the other surveyors, and all his labourers, except one, sick. Maj. Fraser, Secretary, and Mr. de Russy, draughtsman to the American party, are sick at Black Rock—both, however, we understand, convalescent. Gen. Porter, with the residue of the American party, of which only two labourers are said to remain fit for duty, are daily expected.

From the Travels of Humboldt.

IDEA OF MEXICAN WEALTH.

This traveller affirms that the riches of Mexico are infinitely superior to those of Peru. I know of no Peruvian family (says he) in the possession of a fixed and certain revenue of 130,000 francs, ($26,000;) but in Mexico there are individuals who possess no mines, and whose revenue amounts to a million of francs, 200,000 dollars. The family of the count de la Valenciano possesses alone, on the ridge of the Andes, a property worth 25 millions of francs, (5,000,000 dolls.) without including the mines of Valenciano, which yields, one year with another, a nett revenue of 1,500,000 livres, (240,000 dolls.

The Count de Regia built, at his own expense, two vessels of the largest size, worth 600,000 dolls. and presented them to the king of Spain.

The family of Fagoaga, well known for its beneficence, intelligence, and zeal for the public good, exhibits the example of the greatest wealth which was ever derived from a mine. A single vein which the marquis of Fagoaga possesses, in the district of Sombredath, left in five or six months, all charges deducted, a nett profit of four millions of dollars.

The European reader will be still more astonished, when I inform him of the extraordinary fact that this family lent, about the year 1800, a sum of more than three millions and a half of francs, (700,000 dollars without interest, to a friend whose fortune they believed would be made by it in a solid manner.

To complete the view of the immense wealth centered in the hands of a few individuals in Mexico, it is only necessary to add, that amongst instances of individual opulence, nine clergymen only, possess an annual income, collectively, of 539,000 dollars—a sum almost equal to the whole expenses of the civil government of the United States.

ON WAR.

Extract of a Sermon of the Reverend Dr. Chalmers, on "Universal Peace," from Isaiah, II. 4.

"The first great obstacle to the extinction of war, is the way in which the heart of man is carried off from its barbarities and its horrors, by the splendor of its deceitful accompaniments. On every side of me I see causes at work, which go to spread a delusive colouring over war, and to remove its shocking barbarities to the back ground of our contemplations altogether. I see it in history which tells me of the superb appearance of the troops, and the brilliancy of their successive charges. I see it in the poetry which lends the magic of numbers to the narrative of blood and transports its many admirers as by its images and its figures, its treacherous embellishments over a scene of legalized slaughter. I see it in the musick which represents the progress of the battle. All, all goes to prove what strange and half sighted creatures we are. Were it not so, war could never have been seen in any other aspect than that of unmingled hatefulness; and I can look to nothing, but to the progress of the Christi- sentiment upon earth, to arrest the strong current of its popular and prevailing partiality for war. Then only will an imperious sense of duty lay the check of severe principal upon all the subordinate tastes and faculties of our nature.

"Another obstacle to the extinction of war, is a sentiment which seems to be universally gone into, that the rules and promises of the gospel which apply to a single individual, do not apply to a nation of individuals. Just think of the mighty effect it would have on the politicks of the world, were this sentiment deposed from its wonted authority, over the councils and the doings of nations, in their transactions with each other If forbearance be the virtue of an individual forbearance is also the virtue of a nation. If it be the glory of a man to defer his anger and to paas over a transgression, that nation mistakes its glory which is so feelingly alive to the slightest insult, and musters up its threats and its armaments upon the faintest shadow of provocation. If it be the magnanimity of an injured man to obstain from vengeance, and if, by so doing he heaps coals of fire upon the head of his enemy, then that is the magnaimous nation, which, recoiling from violence and from blood, will do no more than send its christian embassy, and prefer its mild and impressive remonstrance; and that is the disgraced nation, which will refuse the impressive ness of the moral appeal that has been made to it."

* * * * * *

"It is public opinion, which, in the long run, governs the world; and while I look with confidence to a gradual revolution in the state of public opinion, from the omnipotence of gospel truth working its silent, but effectual way through the families of mankind. Yet I will not deny, that much may be done to accelerate the advent of perpetual and universal peace by a distinct body of men, embarking their every talent, and their every acquirement in the prosecution of this as a distinct object. This is the way, in which some of the other Bible prophecies are at this moment hastening to their accomplishment; & it is in this way, I apprehend that the prophecy in my text, may be indebted for its speedier fulfilment to the agency of men, selecting this as the assigned field on which their philanthrophy shall expatiate.

"Were each individual member of such a scheme, to prosecute his own work, and come forward with his own peculiar contribution, the fruit of the united labors of all, would be one of the finest collections of Christian eloquence, and of enlightened morals, and of sound political philosophy, that was ever presented to the world.

"Let one take up the question of war, in its principal and make the full weight of his moral severity rest upon it, and upon all its abominations. Let another take up the question of war, in its consequences, and bring his every power of graphical description to the task of presenting an awakened public, with an impressive detail of its cruelties and its horrors. Let another neutralize the poetry of war, and dismantle it of all those bewitching splendours, which the hand of misguided genius has thrown over it. Let another teach the world a truer and more magnanimous path of national glory, than any country of the world has yet walked in. Let another tell with irresistible argument, how the Christian ethicks of a nation is one with its humblest individual. Let another pour the light of modern speculation into the mysteries of trade, and prove that not a single war has been undertaken for any of its objects, where the millions & the millions more, which were lavished on the cause, have not all been cheated away from us by the phantom of an imaginary interest."

Letters have been received by a gentleman in this place from Col. Leavenworth, commanding the 5th infantry, dated Prarie du Chien, August 6, by which we learn, that Major Marston's company has proceeded to fort Armstrong to garrison that post; that Major Muhlenberg, with Captains Fowle's and Whiting's companies remain at the Prairie, and that the Colonel, with the residue of the regiment, was to proceed the next day to St. Peter's, to establish the new post. The recruits which were to have joined the regiment by the way of the Mississippi, had not been heard of. No supplies had been received except some provisions and two ordnance boats.

From the difficulties experienced on the communication by the way of the Missisippi to the posts at Rock river, Prairie du Chien and St. Peters, we believe the route by the lakes and the Fox and Ouisconsin rivers to be by far the most certain and practicable, and attended with much less expence.

AMERICAN SKETCHES.

IRVING, the author of the Sketch Book, has beautifully compared the endearments and consolations of the other sex, in times of adversity and grief, to the vine binding its carressing tendrils round the shattered limbs of the oak. This beautiful thought our young correspondent has given us in verse in the following stanzas.

Bost. Cent.

When from the clouds the thunder driven,
And hurl'd upon the mountain oak,
Its tall, majestic trunk was riven,
And all its towering branches broke;
Around that trunk, around those arms,
The tender vine carressing clings,
And wreathing there its softest charms,
New life and strength and beauty brings.

And when the thunderbolt of woe
Has marked the sons of mortal birth,
And aiming at our bliss the blow,
Has riven and broke us to the earth;
Then woman's love, a vine more dear,
So fondly wreathes its charms around,
To soothe each pang, to dry each tear,
And kindly bind up every wound.

PITTSBURGH.

Friday, Nov. 12, 1819.

Our naturally thick atmosphere which at this season of the year generally envelopes Pittsburgh with a dark veil, has been unusually gloomy for a few days past, so much so indeed as to alarm some of our fair visitors with the idea of an approaching earthquake. The cause is discovered to proceed from fires in the woods, which has filled a large portion of our country with smoke; this added to the thick haze of the Indian Summer, assisted by a few trifling causes peculiar to our own city, gives us some claim to the Highland title of 'Children of the Mist.' Our own dear coal smoke we can bear; indeed we cannot breathe without it. But this foreign wood smoke, like British importations, has fairly upset all our philosophy; many of our friends have taken to goggles, the rest are generally in spears," "albeit (as some of our western merchants say) they are not much given to the melting mood."

We did not regard the assertion so often made on the subject of the Ohio being more navigable below Wheeling than above, as long as this assertion was confined to the gentry of Wheeling themselves. Since, however, it has become a pretty general belief, it is time that the folly and absurdity of the observation should be noticed by those who are immediately interested in the affair. It was only necessary to examine a map, for any person to be satisfied that the fact must be otherwise; the Ohio between Pittsburgh and Wheeling does not receive a single stream but what is nearly dry in the summer season, with the exception of the two Beavers, and all the water in these two streams combined would not have been sufficient to float a keel last summer, much less to supply the actual loss by evaporation in 80 miles. The report of the commissioners, however, will set this question at rest forever; in the mean time we publish an extract from the letter of a stranger, who is neither influenced by Pittsburgh or Wheeling feelings, and whose observations may therefore be relied on. He descended the river in its worst stage, and had a fair opportunity of judging."

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Cincinnati to his friend in Pittsburgh, dated

CINCINNATI, October 21.

"I arrived here on the 4th inst. in a passage of 10 days from Gallipolis (where I stopped 8 days) and 35 from Pittsburgh. The water in many places in the channels over the ripples was only 10 inches, and my boat drew 14; grounded, probably, 50 times, and worked as hard as ever I did in my life. Found the water below Wheeling, in many places, much shoaler than above. I mention this because it is contrary to the Ohio Navigator, and the information I received in Pittsburgh."

We have been requested to publish the following extract of a letter from West Union, on the subject of the bank there. If it can be serviceable to any of our citizens we shall be satisfied.

WEST UNION, Oct. 21, 1819.

"I am well aware that reports are in circulation injurious to the credit of the Bank of West Union, but I can assure you they are without foundation. And if the paper of this bank has received a bad name, and been put down in Pittsburgh, it is altogether unmerited. I presume there can be but little cause of complaint from the Pittsburgh people who have made a trial for exchanges at the Bank of West Union—they have I believe, in every instance been paid in specie or its equivalent. The Bank has always deserved the name and credit of 'one of the best' Ohio banks. I therefore trust your citizens will give the paper such a circulation as its credit demands, which will relieve some honest brokers of Pittsburgh from the trouble of purchasing at a heavy discount, and sending on to the bank for specie."

From the Baltimore Federal Gazette, Nov. 2.

From the Spanish Maine.

By the arrival of the schooner Thomas Tenant, at this port in 30 days from Carthagena, information is received that the Patriot Army under General Bolivar was within twenty miles of that place and it was expected that the place would be immediately serrendered.

From the Baltimore Patriot. Nov. 2.

EXTRACT TO THE EDITOR.

St. Thomas, Oct. 12.

We had an arrival this morning from Margaritta, by which we learn that the Island has latterly been very sickly; amongst the number of victims to the prevailing fever, are generals English & Sansbosky. General Devereux had not arrived. From Angostura information had been received that Arismendi had effected a revolution in the government of that place, and that Gen. Ordinati was marching in force to oppose him!

The Brutus, Venezuelian brig is totally lost at Nevis: the Admiral Brion is dismasted at Five Islands, or the Saints.

P. S.—Since writing you this morning I have been enabled to collect further particulars concerning the late revolution at Angostura. It is certain that Zaer, late Vice President of the Venezuelian Republic has been deposed, and that Arismendi has been elected; or more properly speaking appointed president in the room of Bolivar.

How these dissensions will end, it is impossible to hazard a conjecture, but I fear the worst consequences from such a state of anarchy and confusion.

Accounts from St. Jago de Cuba of Sept. 22, state that a small schooner was fitted out at Biami, (about 40 leagues distant) with a crew of 41 men, to capture the pirates off that port. She fell in with and gave battle to a boat having 24 men well armed. After a desperate rencontre the crew of the boat succeeded in capturing the schooner. The captain of the piratical boat was the renowned Mitchell. In the action he had two men killed—the schooner 22 killed—12 jumped overboard, part of whom perished.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

This morning arrived below the fast sailing ship William Penn, capt. James Hamilton, in 35 days from Liverpool.—Capt. Hamilton has obligingly favored us with a complete file of Liverpool papers to the 26th of September, being 12 days later than our previous accounts.—On a rapid glance at their contents we find nothing of a very interesting nature.—The public journals were teeming with animadverstons on the government with regard to the proceedings at Manchester, and the Prince Regent in his answer to the Address of the Common Council has adopted a tone of rebuke very little calculated to soothe the public sensibility.

The mayor of Liverpool had been requested to call a public meeting to petition the Prince Regent to institute an efficient, strict and solemn enquiry into the proceedings at Manchester, but had refused; in consequence of which a notice for a public meeting to be held in Clayton square, on the 29th Sept. was published, signed by 24 of the most respectable men in Liverpool.

Serious riots had occurred at Glasgow and Paisley; and indeed the whole British Empire appears to be in an unusual state of fermentation. Hunt was visiting the theatres and other places of public resort, and was every where received with shouts and cheerings.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 25.

Holland—Dutch papers to Sunday last have been received. Countess de Montholon was daily expected at Brussels, on her return to France, accompanied by her children. It is added, that her husband had refused to leave Bonaparte, who was busied in writing the memoirs of his extraordinary life, and was assisted by General Bertrand and Count Montholon in the compilation of them.

The letters by the Dutch mail are most gloomy, representing the trade of that once flourishing Republic as rapidly declining; and stating, that things must inevitably become worse as long as the government so obstinately persists in its anti-commercial ragulations, which, it seems, have disgusted and alienated all the old friends of the House of Orange.

Sweden.—A treaty for the final arrangement of the differences between Sweden and Denmark, was signed at Stockholm on the 1st inst. by the Danish Minister M. Von Holst. The chief stipulation is, that Sweden is to pay three millions of dollars (Hamburgh banco) in 10 annual payments, and also to pay four per cent. per annum interest, but the interest to be paid quarterly; and the bonds for the principal and interest are to be deposited in the hands of Lord Strangford, as the minister of the mediating power.

Germany.—The storm raised in Germany by the pretended Prussian conspiracy, appears gradually to die away. The ferendary, M. Henning who was said to be one of the principal chiefs in the plot, has been set at liberty, and the Inquisitorial Commission, which has been sitting on the business, has declared that he was perfectly innocent. He has suffered two months' imprisonment. It is said that he intends bringing an action against M. Kamptz and the other Members of the Commission.—It is again reported in Berlin, that the King of Prussia has at length consented to certain principles which are to form the ground-work of the constitution.

Denmark.—Fresh disturbances have broken out in Copenhagen, where the windows of many houses, more particularly of those inhabited by Jews, were broken, so that the troops in various parts of the town, were obliged to fire on the mob. Eighty persons were arrested, and some of them sentenced to rigorous punishment. Tranquility prevailed when the last accounts came away.

Spain.—According to letters from Madrid, a report prevails that the yellow fever has spread from the Isle of Leon to Seville, and that all Andalusia is in a state of the greatest alarm for the consequences. No passports are delivered at Cadiz for a further route than ten leagues, at which distance the cordon is established. On the 25th ult. the ships of war and transports composing the grand expedition removed to anchorage in the roads of Rota, with orders not to communicate with Cadiz Bay; none of their troops are suffered to come on shere.—The troops are in cantonment at Xeres, St. Lucar, Lebriza, and the environs.

A Glasgow paper of the 13th ult. is received by the Camillus. A large reform meeting was held at Paisley on the 11th, at which the Hustings were covered with black and the speakers dressed in mourning, expressive of their regret for the martys at Manchester. Several spirited resolutions against the conduct of the Manchester magistrates were adopted, and considerable warmth of feeling was manifested. Early in the evening an express arrived at Glasgow, requested military aid, and some tropps were sent off who reached about 12 o'clock at night, at which hour, however, the people had nearly dispersed and the place had become quiet. The troops remained in the neighbourhood. Next day [Sunday] the place was again alarmed by several parties of the Reformers, who patrolled the streets with their flags, broke the windows of several of the public house, threw stones at the magistrates, and committed other outrages. About twenty of the ringleaders were arrested, and order was again restored.—Mer. Adv.

It is suggested by some that the destination of Sir Thomas Hardy's squadron is to LIMA, the capital of Peru, with a view to take possession of that rich country; others suppose that the Patriot fleet under lord Cochrane, is the object of this secret expedition. We do not however, think that those conjectures should be relied on as a ground for our security. We do not venture to point out out any place as the object of his destination; but it is cetainly our policy and our duty to be prepared to meet in a proper manner, any attempt which may be made either directly or indirectly to injure us. A powerful force is in motion; its object is concealed, and we have not any better reasons than Spain has, to calculate on forbearancce of injuries from Great Britain. [Balt. F. Gaz.]

The Surveyor General of the public lands in Missouri and Illinois, has caused a large quantity of land to be surveyed & prepared for market in the Cape Girardeau district. The townships 30, 31, 32, 33, north of the base line of ranges No's. 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 14 and 15 east of the 5th principal meridian are reported ready for sale, and may be advertised and sold as soon as the President will give the order. The sales of these townships and of others in the Cape Girardeau district will probably come on in the spring. The sooner the better. The U. States have not yet offered any lands for sale in that fine tract of country, which is now filled with a numerous population, waiting, money in hand to make purchases for themselves and their posterity. In fact the Cape Girardeau district is already a well settled country, abounding with respectable farmers, and much in need of the opening of a land office. The grants from the Spanish government are too few to furnish the inhabitants with homes, & in the mean time a large emigration has been pouring in, and waiting for the public sales to become freeholders.—These are the first lands got ready for market EAST of the 5th principal meridian. The old claims lay principally EAST of that line, and many of them being yet unsettled, oppose great obstacles to the progress of the surveys. General Rector, however proceeds with the business as rapidly as the instructions of the government, and the adjustment of the old claims will permit it to be done.

ALBANY, (N. Y.) Oct. 27.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Schoharie, dated Oct. 21, to the Editors.

"The cattle show & fair in this county last Tuesday and Wednesday, was highly interesting. Old Schoharie looms up in the midst of the agricultural exhibitions of her sister counties. The display of animals was rather superior to Otsego in their first exhibition in 1817—the ploughing match was probably superior to any other in America, being conducted on a better plan. Instead of racing through with oxen which shall come out first, producing no practical good, they adopted the following plan, on the suggestion of E. Watson, Esq. of your city The scene of exhibition was on the flatts. The criterion for obtaining the prize, was the one who should, at the expiration of 30 minutes, plough nearest to the depth of six inches, and eight inches furrow, & perform the most and best work. By the great exertions of the marshals, spectators were kept off the ground; instead of which the members of the committee were following the ploughs to gauge the depth and width they severally ploughed.—Three yoke of oxen and two span of horses started for different premiums, and stopped the same instant at the sound of a bugle. The plough boys were all neatly dressed with white frocks and green sashes round their waists, and the society's badge in their hats. In a word, it was a most exhilirating, heart-cheering sight, conducted with great spirit and propriety, by William C. Bouck, E-q. chairman. Numerous spectstars of both sexes attended to witness the interesting scene.

The second day of the fair was also highly interesting. The procession was novel, viz. a plough followed by a respectable farmer sowing wheat; then a harrow; and the members, committees and officers of the society, each carrying some implement of husbandry. The exercises in the church occupied two and a half hours. At the agricultural ball, the ladies of the country entered with spirit into the views of the society; instead of being decorated with costly, expensive, foreign gew-gaws; those deadly leaches which prey upon our vital—their heads were handsomely ornamented with wheat, interspersed with flowers; and their gowns elegantly trimmed with festoon-made of cedar twigs, in a truly pastoral style. It is by these means we shall eventually be emancipated from foreign shackles, and become truly and substantially an independent nation."

CASH,

I HAVE determined to sell my FARM, at the fork of Chartier's creek, in the county o Washington, fifteen miles from Pittsburgh, consisting of about 214 acres, so low for CASH as to make it a great object for any one having the command of money. Its advantages in point of soil, timber, water, sugar camps, neighbourhood, proximity to mills, markets, the turnpike road from Washington to Pittsburgh, meeting houses and an exeellent college, are well known —Added to these, some enterprising individuals of capital, are now boring for Salt within a quarter of a mile of it, at a lick which has produced salt from the surface, so that no doubt is entertained of their success. This will be useful, not only to the vicinity in general, but it will be of peculiar benefit to the tract hereby offered for sale, as it will afford a constant market for the stone coal with which the land abounds. I will give the purchaser a PATENT in my own name and a general warranty deed. The title is indisputable. I am willing to dispose of eight or ten other tracts, on moderate terms.

WESTERN HOTEL,

No. 228 MARKET STREET,

Sign of General Washington.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform his friends and the public, that he has taken that well known establishment in Market street, next door to the Pittsburgh Mail Stage Office, and lately occupied by Mr. George Yohe. To those who have been accustomed to resort to this house, it is unnecessary to point out its superior advantages. For the information of others we deem it necessary to state that its situation is central, high, healthy and convenient to business; an extensive range of back buildings, consisting of lodging rooms, afford a fine view of the city to the eastward, and admit a free and uninterrupted circulation of air—and what will give them a decided preference in the opinion of many, is the attachment thereto of balconies, so constructed as not only to afford pleasant promenades, but easy means of escape in the event of any necessity from any sudden alarm of fire. The great Western Stages start every morning from the door, and on the premises is one of the best Livery Stables in the city, conducted by Mr. John Tomlinson, where travellers' horses will be faithfully attended to. With these advantages, and some other improvements now making added to his own unremitted exertions to please, the subscriber confidently hopes for, and very respectfully solicits a share of public patronage.

THANKFUL for the very liberal encouragement he has received from the citizens of Pittsburgh, hereby informs them that the settlement of some business down the river, compels him to leave the city, and that those who have left any thing with him to make or repair, can get the same from G. LEMONNIER, an experienced Clock and Watch-maker, with whom I have left my stock, and authority also, to receive whatever is due to me, either by note or account.

To Rent or Sell,

A BREWERY, pleasantly situated on the bank of the Ohio river in the town of Gallipolis, county of Gallia and state of Ohio.

This Brewery is in complete operation, and has all the necessary buildings &c. adjoining the same, such as malt-house, kiln, pump &c. There is a piece of woodland attached to the property, where timber and firewood can be obtained in any quantity, for the use of the brewery. Barley can also be had on reasonable terms from the farmers in the neighbourhood, who now attend pretty largely to the cultivation thereof.

This brewery is in a fine situation for business—4 miles below the mouth of the Great Kenhawa, on which river any quantity of malt liquors can be sold for the consumption of the Salt works.

The buildings and pump are calculated for the establishment of a Distillery, which would be of great advantage in Gallipolis where there is none.

Terms will be made easy and accommodating, for further particulars, apply to
